

ROSSENDALE

THIS is a large and populous manufacturing district, including Newchurch, Rawtenstall, Crawshaw Booth, Stacksteads and several other villages and hamlets, besides a number of dispersed dwellings. It contains a surface of twenty-four square miles, and was originally part of the domain of the great honour of Clitheroe. The region was for many years uninhabited, except by wolves and other wild beasts. The first part enclosed and planted was Brandwood, by the Abbot of Stanlaw, about the year 1200. At the commencement of Henry VIII's reign, it is said, the population numbered only 80. During that King's reign the place was disforested, and in the time of Edward VI the population amounted to 1,000. By the census of 1861, the number of inhabited houses in Rossendale was 2,480, and by that of 17=871 the number was 14,409, showing an increase of 1,772 in ten years. /the excess of registered births over registered deaths in the ten years was 1,907.

NEWCHURCH &c.,

Is a populous and highly important manufacturing district, and is situate 2½ miles SW from Bacup and 3½ miles E by S from Haslingden, and 20 N from Manchester. The cotton and woollen establishments here are numerous and extensive, and coal and free-stone are found in great abundance. The township of Newchurch, which also includes Bacup, has increased its population from 16,919 in 1851 to 26,823 in 1871, and its rateable value, as allowed in 1872, is £79,468. Its area in statute acres is 5,857, and the manorial rights of the whole of Rossendale belong to the Duke of Buccleuch. St Nicholas Church was mostly re-built in 1826, but the original and first church in Rossendale was erected in 1512. A new organ was put up in 1865 at a cost of £600. The church has a square embattled tower, containing a peel of six bells. There are 1,400 sittings, of which 227 are free and unappropriated. The benefice is a rectory, value £580, in the patronage of the vicar of Whalley, and the incumbency of the Rev John B. Phillips, MA. At Lumb, about two miles north, is a Church, dedicated to St Michael, of which the Rev James W. Baron MA, is the incumbent, and for whom a parsonage house is about to be erected. The Church is a small stone building, and was consecrated in 1848. At Waterfoot, a village adjoining Newchurch, is a Church, dedicated to St James, and erected in 1863 from designs by Mr Robinson, of Derby. It consists of a nave, chancel, one aisle, vestry, porch, and graceful spire. The latter was added in 1873 and contains a peel of six bells, which, with the clock, cost £1,350. The cost of this handsome church was about £4,000, and it will seat 650; 320 of the sittings are free. There has recently been erected a good parsonage, which cost nearly £3,000. The living is a vicarage, value £200 a year, in the patronage of three trustees, and is held by the Rev Alexander James Harrison, MA, PhD, ThD.

The Dissenting places in Rossendale are numerous. Those in Newchurch and neighbourhood are as follows, viz:- The Wesleyan Chapel of Newchurch, built in 1804 at a cost of £700, and that at Whitewell Bottom, erected in 1865, at an expense of £1,200; the Baptist chapels at Clough Fold, Edge Side, Lumb and Waterfoot; the United Methodist Chapels at Newchurch and Scout; and the Unitarian Chapel at Newchurch, built in 1865, at a cost of £2,500. The Grammar School was erected in 1711, by John Kershaw of Wolfenden, who endowed it with two small estates at Weald, in Bacup booth. The endowment now amounts to some £45 a year, and the school is generally attended by between 50 and 60 pupils. There is here also a Mechanics Institute, established in 1850, with a library of above 1,000 volumes. Fairs for cattle are held on the 29th of April and for pigs, pedlary, and clothing on the first Monday after Midsummer Day.

Is a populous village about midway between Haslingden and Newchurch, on the East Lancashire section of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway, and 17½ miles from Manchester. Here also the cotton and woollen trades are extensively pursued. It stands partly in the township of Lower Booths, which contains 1,600 acres, and its population in 1851 was 3,778; 1861, 4,655; and 1871, 5,114. Rateable value, £15,118. The Church of St. Mary was erected in 1837, at a cost of £2,400. It will seat 800 persons. The living is a vicarage, in the gift of the executors of Henry Hoyle, Esq., who endowed the church. The population of the ecclesiastical district in 1861 was 7,823. Rev. William Whitworth, MA, incumbent. The Catholic Church, dedicated to St James the Less, is a substantial Gothic edifice, erected in 1844-5, at a cost of £1,500. The chancel window is of stained glass, and the pulpit is of hewn stone. Over the vestry door is a marble tablet to commemorate the Rev. Thomas Rimmer. Contiguous to the church is a commodious Presbytery, built about a dozen years since. Rev. Denis Byrne is the pastor of this congregation. A school in connection with this place of worship was opened 10th of April, 1866, and the cost of its erection was £800.

The Wesleyan Chapel at Rawtenstall is a beautiful Grecian structure of cut stone, with an elaborate front supported by four Corinthian columns. It was erected in 1842 at an expense of £5,082, including decorations, fittings &c., and contains 1,700 sittings. The United Methodists have two chapels here, one built in 1851 at a cost of nearly £1,000 and the other built in 1857 at a cost of £10,000, including the erection of large and commodious schools. It is in the Corinthian style of architecture, and has sitting accommodation for about £1,000. The Unitarian Chapel was built in 1853, and the cost of its erection was £1,700. It is a Gothic edifice, and will seat 500. The Primitive Methodists have two chapels here, and the Baptists have a place of worship in the village. There is a Mechanics Institute in the place, and Petty Sessions are held at the Queen's Arms hotel on every alternate Monday.
